

ACTIVITY - SOAK UP SOME KNOWLEDGE

Why: This activity is a fun and interactive way to learn the road code and/or to practice what you are learning before sitting your test.

HOW TO RUN THIS ACTIVITY

Get two groups together for this lunchtime activity. Mark out a small court dividing the teams from one another and give each team a bucket of water balloons. Ask one team a question from the road code – if they answer it correctly they get to fire a water balloon at the opposition. If they get in wrong, the other team gets a chance to answer.

IDEAS OR THINGS TO CONSIDER

- Consider where you are going hold the event. A high traffic area at school where lots of people will see it play out will work well.
- Use social media and school notices to promote the activity and to recruit teams. You could even consider having students go up against teachers!
