Impaired Driving (alcohol, drugs & fatigue) is a big problem in New Zealand.

Driver alcohol/drugs was a contributing factor in 113 fatal crashes in 2021

The consequences

- ✗ If you cause injury or death you will be disqualified from driving and either fined up to $10,000 or sentenced to prison.
- ✗ If tested and you are over the legal limit or it shows evidence of the use of a controlled drug, you will be disqualified from driving and either fined up to $20,000 or imprisoned for up to 5 years.
- ✗ A person under the age of 20 driving or attempting to drive with excessive breath or blood alcohol concentration will incur 50 demerit points.

Do the right thing; drive impairment FREE!

- ✓ No alcohol before driving.
- ✓ Plan before you party and make sure you have a trusted sober driver.
- ✓ If you're feeling tired take a break.
